

Tire woes continue. Kalamazoo Speedway’s second tire order of the year has met with the same fate as the first order—not all tires ordered will be delivered. In some cases only a small fraction of what was ordered will be delivered, for one class, none of the order will be filled.

Practice will still be held on Friday, April 15; however, the tire barn will be closed so that tires will be available for the start of the season next week.

As a reminder, the chart below lists the dates each class races and the number of new tires that may be purchased or brought to the track to race for that date. Teams will supply the used tires needed to race. In the event of a rainout, tire allotments will not roll over to the next week; the next week will pick up as if we’d gone racing. If a driver skips a race night and returns on a subsequent night, the team will be allowed the number of new tires listed for the night they are racing.
