

One of the cornerstones of Kalamazoo Speedway has passed away.

Marty Jones, who owned the track for nearly 20 years, passed away this weekend. After selling his pride and joy, he would drift over to the track almost daily. His commitment to the track and racing has been recognized by all who knew him. Marty and Ellen (pictured) sold souvenirs at the Speedway gift shop for a number of years, retiring only this past winter. We extend Ellen and family our heartfelt condolences, thoughts and prayers.

The family will provide details of Marty's Celebration of Life (to be held at Kalamazoo Speedway) at a later time.

Godspeed Marty Jones.

Marty Jones (left) during his tenure as track owner with then racer, Gary Howe, with Howe's daughters, Lacey and Kellie).